INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REVIEW REPORT

The Board of Directors and Shareholders of Information Technology Total Services Co., Ltd.

Introduction

We have reviewed the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Information Technology Total Services Co., Ltd. (the "Company") and its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Group") as of June 30, 2023 and 2022, the related consolidated statements of comprehensive income for the three month sended June 30. 2023 and 2022 and for the six months ended June 30, 2023 and 2022, the consolidated statements of changes in equity and cash flows for the six months then ended, and the related notes to the consolidated financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies (collectively referred to as the "consolidated financial statements"). Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and International Accounting Standard 34 "Interim Financial Reporting" 'endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China. Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on the consolidated financial statements based on our reviews.

Scope of Review

We conducted our reviews in accordance with the Standards on Review Engagements of the Republic of China 2410 "Review of Interim Financial Information Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity". A review of consolidated financial statements consists of making inquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit and consequently does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.

Conclusion

Based on our reviews, nothing has come to our attention that caused us to believe that the accompanying consolidated financial statements do not present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of the Company as of June 30, 2023 and 2022, its consolidated financial performance and its consolidated cash flows for the six months ended June 30, 2023 and 2022 in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and International Accounting Standard 34 "Interim Financial Reporting" endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China.

The Group has assessed that the above standards and interpretations have no material impact on the Group’s financial position and financial performance.

4. Summary of significant accounting policies

The principal accounting policies adopted in the preparation of this consolidated financial report as set out below these policies have been consistently applied to all the periods presented, unless otherwise stated.

(1) Compliance Statement

The consolidated financial statements of the Group have been prepared in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and the International Accounting Standard 34, ‘Interim financial reporting’ that came into effect as endorsed by the FSC.

(2) Basis of preparation

- A. Except for the following items, the consolidated financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention:
 - (a) Financial assets and liabilities (including derivative instruments) at fair value through profit or loss.
 - (b) Financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income.
- B. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with International Financial Reporting Standards, International Accounting Standards, IFRIC Interpretations, and SIC Interpretations that came into effect as endorsed by the FSC (“IFRSs”) requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires management to exercise its judgement in the process of applying the Group’s accounting policies. The areas involving a higher degree of judgement or complexity, or areas where assumptions and estimates are significant to the consolidated financial statements are disclosed in Note 5.

(3) Basis of consolidation

A. Principles for preparing consolidated financial statements

- (a) The Group includes all subsidiaries as entities in the preparation of the consolidated financial statements. A subsidiary refers to an entity under the control of the Group. When the Group is exposed to variable returns from the participation in the entity or has rights to said variable returns, and has the ability to affect such returns through its power over the entity, the Group controls the entity. Subsidiaries are included in the consolidated financial statements from the day when the Group obtains control over them, and the consolidation is terminated on the day when the control is lost.
- (b) Transactions, balances, and unrealized gains and losses between companies within the Group have been eliminated. The accounting policies of the subsidiaries have been adjusted as necessary and are consistent with the policies adopted by the Group.
- (c) The various components of profit or loss and other comprehensive income are attributable to the owners of the parent company and non-controlling interests; the total comprehensive income is also attributable to the owners of the parent company and non-controlling interests, even if the resulting loss of non-controlling interests occurs.
- (d) If the change in the ownership of a subsidiary does not result in the loss of control (transaction with non-controlling interests), it is treated as an equity transaction, that is, as a transaction with owners. The difference between the adjusted amount of non-controlling interests and the fair value of the consideration paid or received is directly recognized as equity.
- (e) When the Group loses control over a subsidiary, the remaining investment in the former subsidiary is remeasured at fair value and used as the fair value of the financial asset initially recognized or as the cost of the investment in an associate or joint venture initially recognized; the difference between the fair value and the carrying amount is recognized as the current profit or loss. For all amounts previously recognized in other comprehensive income related to the subsidiary, the accounting treatment is on the same basis as if the Group directly disposes of the relevant assets or liabilities, that is, the gains or losses previously recognized as other comprehensive income will be reclassified as profit or loss when the relevant assets or liabilities are disposed of, so when the control over the subsidiary is lost, the gains or losses will be reclassified from equity to profit or loss.

B. The subsidiaries included in the consolidated financial statements:

C. The subsidiaries not included in the consolidated financial statements: None.

D. Different adjustments and treatment methods of subsidiaries in the accounting period: None.

E. Major restrictions: Cash and short-term deposits of $27,282 are deposited in China, subject to local foreign exchange controls. These foreign exchange controls restrict the repatriation of funds outside of China (except through the channel of normal dividends).

F. Subsidiaries with non-controlling interests that are material to the Group: None.

(4) Foreign currency exchange

The items listed in the financial statements of each entity in the Group are measured in the currency of the main economic environment in which the entity operates (i.e. the functional currency). The consolidated financial statements are presented in the Company's functional currency, New Taiwan dollars.

A. Foreign currency transactions and balances

- (a) In foreign currency transactions, the spot exchange rate on the transaction or measurement date is used for translation to the functional currency. The exchange difference from the translation is recognized in profit or loss of the period.
- (b) The monetary assets and balance of liabilities in foreign currency are adjusted based on the spot exchange rate valuation on the balance sheet date. The exchange difference from the adjustment is recognized in profit or loss of the period.
- (c) The non-monetary assets and balance of liabilities in foreign currency measured at fair value through profit or loss are adjusted based on the spot exchange rate valuation on the balance sheet date. The exchange difference from the adjustment is recognized in profit or loss of the period; for those measured at fair value through other comprehensive income, the adjustment is made based on the spot exchange rate valuation on the balance sheet date. The exchange difference from the adjustment is recognized in other comprehensive income; those that are not measured at fair value are measured based on the historical exchange rate on the initial transaction date.
- (d) All the translation profits or losses are stated under the “other profits and losses” in the income statement.

B. Translation of foreign operations

For all entities of the Group and associates whose functional currencies are different from the presentation currency, their business results and financial position shall be translated into the presentation currency using the following method:

- (a) The assets and liabilities presented at each balance sheet are translated at the closing exchange rate at the balance sheet date;
- (b) The income and expenses presented in each statement of comprehensive income are translated at the average exchange rate of the current period; and
- (c) All exchange differences arising from translation are recognized in other comprehensive income.

(5) Criteria for classification of current and non-current assets and liabilities

A. Financial assets that meet any of the following conditions shall be classified as current assets:

- (a) The assets are expected to be realized, sold or consumed in a normal operating cycle.
- (b) The liabilities are held mainly for the purpose of trading.
- (c) The assets are expected to be realized within 12 months after the balance sheet date.
- (d) The cash or cash equivalents, excluding those that are restricted for being used for exchange or settlement of liabilities within 12 months after the balance sheet date.

The Group classifies all assets that do not meet the conditions above as non-current.

B. Liabilities that meet one of the following conditions are classified as current liabilities:

- (a) The liabilities are expected to be settled in a normal operating cycle.
- (b) The liabilities are held mainly for the purpose of trading.
- (c) The liabilities expected to be due and settled within 12 months after the balance sheet date.
- (d) Liabilities whose due date cannot be unconditionally extended by at least 12 months after the balance sheet date. The terms and conditions of the liabilities that may, at the option of the counterparty, result in settlement of the liabilities by issuing equity instruments do not affect the classification of liabilities.

The Group classifies all liabilities that do not meet the conditions above as non-current.

(6) Cash equivalents

Cash equivalents refer to short-term and highly liquid investments that can be converted into a certain amount of cash at any time and the risk of value changes is very small. Time deposits in alignment with the above definition that are held for the purpose of meeting short-term cash commitments in operations are classified as cash equivalents.

(7) Financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income

A. The Group may, upon initial recognition, make an irrevocable choice to recognize the fair value changes of equity instrument investments that are not held for trading in other comprehensive income; or debt instrument investments that meet the following conditions at the same time:

- (a) The financial asset is held under an operating model for the purpose of collecting contractual cash flows and selling.
- (b) The contractual terms of the financial asset give rise, on specified dates, to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

B. The Group adopts trade date accounting for financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income in compliance with transaction practices.

C. The Group measures said assets at fair value plus transaction costs upon initial recognition, which are subsequently measured at fair value:

- (a) Changes in the fair value of equity instruments are recognized in other comprehensive income. Upon derecognition, the accumulated gains or losses previously recognized in other comprehensive income shall not be subsequently reclassified to profit or loss and shall be transferred to retained earnings instead. When the right to receive dividends is established, economic benefits related to dividends are likely to flow in, and when the amount of dividends can be reliably measured, the Group recognizes dividend income in profit or loss.

- (b) Changes in the fair value of debt instruments are recognized in other comprehensive income, and impairment losses, interest revenue, and foreign currency exchange gains and losses before derecognition are recognized in profit or loss. Upon derecognition, the accumulated gains or losses previously recognized in other comprehensive income will be reclassified from equity to profit or loss.

(8) Financial assets measured at amortized cost

- A. Financial assets meeting all of the following criteria:
 - (a) Financial assets held under a business model where the purpose is to collect contractual cash flows.
 - (b) The contractual terms of the financial asset give rise, on specified dates, to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.
- B. The Group adopts trade date accounting for financial assets at amortized cost in compliance with transaction practices.
- C. The Group measures the fair value of such assets plus transaction cost upon initial recognition and subsequently uses the effective interest method to recognize them in interest income or impairment losses during the outstanding period as per the amortization procedure. Upon derecognition, such gain or loss is recognized in profit or loss.
- D. The Group holds time deposits that do not constitute cash equivalents for only a short period. Therefore, the deposits are measured at the amounts of investment since the effect of their discounting is immaterial.

(9) Accounts and notes receivable

- A. These are the accounts and notes with which the right to receive the amount of the consideration for transfer of commodities or services is acquired unconditionally.
- B. The non-interest-bearing short-term accounts and notes receivable are barely affected by discounting, so the Group measures them based on the original invoice amount.

(10) Impairment of financial assets

The Group, at each balance sheet date, considers all reasonable and corroborative information (including forward-looking information) based on the debt instrument investments at fair value through other comprehensive income, financial assets at amortized cost, and accounts receivable or contract assets that contain significant financial components, lease receivables, loan commitments, and financial guarantee contracts. For those with no significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition, the loss allowance is measured at 12-month expected credit losses; for those with a significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition, the loss allowance is measured at the lifetime expected credit losses. For accounts receivable or contract assets that do not contain significant financial components, the loss allowance is measured at the lifetime expected credit losses.

(11) Derecognition of Financial Assets

When the Group's contractual right to receive cash flows from financial assets has expired, said financial assets will be derecognized.

(12) Inventories

Inventory is evaluated on the basis of the cost and net realizable value, whichever is lower; the cost is defined using the weighted average method. When cost and net realizable value are compared to see which is lower, the item-by-item comparison method is adopted. The net realizable value refers to the balance of the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business less the estimated cost required for completion and the estimated cost necessary to complete the sale.

(13) Investment using equity method

- A. Associates refer to all entities that the Group has a significant influence on without control. Generally, the Group holds at least 20% of their voting shares directly or indirectly. The Group adopts the equity method to treat the investment in associates, which is recognized at cost of acquisition.
- B. The Group recognizes the share of profit or loss on associates after acquisition in current profit or loss, and recognizes the share of other comprehensive income on associates after acquisition as other comprehensive income. If the Group's share of losses on an associate equals or exceeds its equity in the associate (including any other unsecured receivables), the Group will not recognize further losses unless the Group has incurred legal obligations or constructive obligations to said associate, or made payments on behalf of said associate.
- C. When equity changes which are not related to profit or loss and other comprehensive income occur to an associate, and said changes do not affect the shareholding percentage of the associate, the Group recognizes all equity changes in "capital surplus" based on the shareholding percentage.
- D. Unrealized gains or losses arising from transactions between the Group and associates have been eliminated based on the proportion of its equity of the associates; unless evidence shows that the assets transferred have been impaired, the unrealized losses are also eliminated. The accounting policies of the associates have been adjusted as necessary and are consistent with the policies adopted by the Group.
- E. Where the Group disposes of an associate and if it loses significant influence on the associate, for all amounts previously recognized in other comprehensive income related to the associate, the accounting treatment is on the same basis as if the Group directly disposes of the relevant assets or liabilities, that is, the gains or losses previously recognized in other comprehensive income will be reclassified to profit or loss when the relevant assets or liabilities are disposed of, and when the significant influence on the associate is lost, the gains or losses will be reclassified from equity to profit or loss. If the Company still has significant influence on the associate, only the amount previously recognized in other comprehensive income is transferred out in the manner above on a pro-rata basis.

(14) Property, plant, and equipment

- A. The acquisition cost is the account entry basis for property, plant, and equipment. The interest accruing during the purchase and construction period is capitalized.
- B. Subsequent costs are included in the carrying amount of the assets or recognized as a separate asset only when the future economic benefits related to an item are likely to flow into the Group and the cost of the item can be reliably measured. The carrying amount of the part replaced shall be derecognized. All other repair and maintenance expenses are recognized in profit or loss of the period when incurred.
- C. The cost model is used for subsequent measurement of property, plant, and equipment. Except for the land, others are depreciated on the straight-line basis within the useful life. Each and every major part of the property, plant, and equipment are depreciated individually.
- D. The Group conducts at least one annual review at the end of each year to assess the estimated useful lives, residual value, and depreciation methods. If the expected residual value and useful lives are different from the previous estimates, or the expected consumption pattern of future economic benefits contained in an asset has changed significantly, the Group shall adjust it in accordance with the provisions of IAS 8 “Accounting Policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors” regarding changes in accounting estimates from the date the changes occur. The useful life of each asset is as follows:

Machinery and equipment	2–12 years
Office equipment	1–5 years
Leasehold improvements	1–10 years
Other equipment	3–5 years

(15) Lessee’s lease transactions – right-of-use assets/lease liabilities

- A. Leased assets are recognized in right-of-use assets and lease liabilities on the date they are available for use by the Group. When a lease contract is a short-term lease or lease of a low-value asset, the lease payment is recognized as an expense during the lease term using the straight-line method.
- B. Lease liabilities are recognized at the present value of the lease payments that have not been paid at the commencement date of a lease at the discounted interest rate of the Group’s incremental borrowings. The lease payments include:

Fixed payments, less any rental incentives that can be collected;

Subsequently, the interest approach is adopted to measure said payments at amortized cost, and interest expenses are recognized during the lease term. Where the lease period of payment is changed due to the factor other than modification of the contract, the right-of-use assets will be adjusted based on the remeasurement.

C. The right-of-use asset is recognized at cost at the commencement date of a lease, and the cost includes:

- (a) The original measured amount of the lease liability;
- (b) Any lease payments paid on or before the commencement date;
- (c) Any original direct costs incurred; and Subsequently, the measurement is based on the cost model, and the depreciation expense is recognized when the useful life of the right-of-use asset expires or the lease term expires, whichever is earlier. When the lease liability is reassessed, the remeasurement of the lease liability will be adjusted for the right-of-use asset.

D. For lease modifications with the scope of a lease reduced, the lessee will reduce the carrying amount of the right-of-use asset to reflect the partial or full termination of the lease, and the difference between said carrying amount and the remeasured amount of the lease liability is recognized in profit or loss.

(16) Intangible assets – computer software

Computer software is recognized at acquisition cost and amortized based on the estimated useful lives of 1 to 5 years using the straight-line method.

(17) Impairment of non-financial assets

The Group estimates the recoverable amount of assets with signs of impairment at the balance sheet date. When the recoverable amount is lower than its carrying amount, it is recognized in impairment loss. The recoverable amount refers to the fair value of an asset less the cost of disposal or its value in use, whichever is higher. If impairment of assets was not recognized in the previous year or was reduced, an impairment loss will be reversed. However, the increased carrying amount of the assets due to reversal of the impairment loss shall not exceed the carrying amount after deduction of the depreciation or amortization if the impairment loss of the assets is not recognized.

(18) Accounts and notes payable

Accounts and notes payable are the obligation of payment against acquisition of goods or services from suppliers during normal operating processes. These payables are measured at fair value when initial recognition is conducted and subsequently at amortized cost under the effective interest method. However, as the non-interest-bearing short-term accounts payable are barely affected by discounting, they will subsequently be measured using the original invoice amount.

(19) Derecognition of financial liabilities

The Group derecognizes financial liabilities when the obligations specified in a contract are fulfilled, cancelled, or expired.

(20) Employee benefits

A. Short-term employee benefits

Short-term employee benefits are measured at non-discounted amount expected to be paid and recognized in expense when related services are provided.

B. Pension

(a) Defined appropriation plan

The amount of the pension fund to be appropriated under the defined pension appropriation plan is recognized in pension cost of the period on the accrual basis. Prepayment of contribution is recognized in assets within the scope of the refundable cash or future deductible contribution.

(b) Defined benefit plan

- i. The net obligation under the defined benefit plan is calculated by discounting the future benefit amount earned by the employees from provision of current or previous services. The par value of the plan assets is deducted from the present value of the defined benefit obligation on the balance sheet date. The net obligation under the defined benefit plan is calculated annually by actuaries using the projected unit benefit method. The discount rate is the market yield rate of government bonds (at the balance sheet date) with the currency and period consistent with those of the defined benefit plan at the balance sheet date.
- ii. The remeasurement generated by the defined benefit plan is recognized in other comprehensive income in the current period and presented in retained earnings.
- iii. The expenses related to the previous service cost is directly recognized in profit or loss.
- iv. mid-term pension costs are calculated on the basis of actuarial cost rates determined at the end of the preceding financial year, adjusted in the event of major market changes and major reductions, liquidations or other major one-off events after that end.

C. Post-employment benefits

Post-employment benefits are benefits provided when an employee's employment is terminated before the normal retirement date or when the employee decides to accept the benefits offered by the Company in exchange for termination of employment. The Group recognizes expenses when it is no longer able to withdraw the offer of post-employment benefits or when the relevant restructuring costs are recognized, whichever is earlier. Benefits that are not expected to be fully settled 12 months after the balance sheet date shall be discounted.

D. Employee compensation and directors' remuneration

Remuneration to employees and directors is recognized in expenses and liabilities when the Company has a present statutory or presumed obligation and the obligation can be estimated reliably. If subsequently the finally determined distribution amount is different from the estimated amount, the difference will be dealt with according to the principle of changes in accounting estimates. In case stocks are distributed as remuneration to employees, the number of stocks is calculated based on the closing price one day before the resolution date of the Board of Directors

(21) Income tax

- A. The tax expenses include current and deferred income taxes. The income tax is recognized in the profit or loss except the income taxes relevant to the items which are recognized in other comprehensive income or directly counted into the equity, which are recognized in other comprehensive income or directly counted into equity respectively.
- B. The Group calculates current income tax based on the tax rates that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date in the country where the taxable income is generated and the business is operated. The management regularly evaluates the status of income tax filings with respect to applicable income tax regulations and, where applicable, estimates the income tax liabilities based on the expected taxes to be paid to the taxation authority. The additional income tax imposed on the undistributed earnings according to the Income Tax Act is recognized in tax expenses of undistributed earnings based on the actual distribution of earnings after the earnings distribution proposal is approved at the shareholders' meeting held in the year next to the year when the earnings are generated.
- C. The deferred income tax is recognized based on the temporary difference between the tax base of assets and liabilities and their carrying amount in the consolidated balance sheet under the balance sheet method. Deferred income tax liabilities from goodwill arising from initial recognition are not recognized. If the deferred income tax is derived from initial recognition of the asset or liability in a transaction (excluding business combinations), and if the accounting profit or taxable income (tax losses) is not affected at the time of the transaction, then the liabilities will not be recognized. For temporary differences caused by the investment in a subsidiary or an associate, if the Group can control the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences, and it is probable that temporary differences will not be reversed in the foreseeable future, the liabilities will not be recognized. Deferred income tax is determined using tax rates and laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date and are expected to apply when the relevant deferred income tax asset is realized or the deferred income tax liability is settled.

- D. The deferred income tax assets are recognized when the temporary difference is likely to be used for the offset of taxable income in the future. Unrecognized and recognized deferred income tax assets are reassessed on every balance sheet date.
- E. The interim period income tax expense is recognized based on the estimated average annual effective income tax rate expected for the full financial year applied to the pretax income of the interim period. Relevant information is disclosed in accordance with the aforementioned policies.

(22) Share capital

"Common shares are classified as equity, directly attributable to the incremental cost of issuing new shares, and the net amount after deduction of income tax is included in the equity as a deduction."

(23) Dividend allocation

Cash dividends distributed in surplus for the year 2001 are recognized as liabilities in financial statements when the shareholders' meeting of the Company decides to distribute the surplus for the cash dividends are recognized as liabilities in the financial statements."In addition, the dividend shall be recognized as dividends to be allocated when the shareholders' meeting of the Company decides to allocate them, and shall be transferred to ordinary shares on the base date of issue of new shares"

(24) Recognition of revenue

A. Sales revenue

The Group sells various products related to information equipment. Sales revenue is recognized when the control of products is transferred to customers, that is, when products are delivered to the buyer and the Group has no outstanding performance obligations that may affect the buyer's acceptance of the products.

B. Service revenue

- (a) The Group provides information software, data processing, electronic information supply, and other relevant services. When the result of a transaction for the provision of services can be reliably estimated, it shall be recognized in revenue according to the percentage of completion method. The percentage of completion is estimated based on the proportion of the cost incurred to the estimated total transaction cost and the value of the service transferred to a customer as of the balance sheet date (and as for the value of the contract performance completed to the customer so far, the amount, for which receipts can be issued, is recognized in revenue based on practical expediency). When the result of the transaction cannot be estimated reliably, revenue is recognized within the range where the cost recognized is likely to be recovered. Where a customer makes a payment according to the contract price in line with the agreed payment schedule, when the service provided by the Group exceeds the customer's payable, it is recognized as a contract asset, and if the customer pays more than the service provided by the Group, it is recognized as a contract liability.

The Group also provides services for information software and its license maintenance. Because it is still part of the information service, it is recognized in service revenue after the performance obligations are fulfilled.

- (b) The Group's estimates of revenue, cost, and percentage of completion are revised as circumstances change. Any increase or decrease in the estimated revenue or cost due to changes in estimates will be reflected in profit or loss during the period in which the circumstances resulting in the correction become known to the management.

(25) Government subsidies

Government grants are recognized at fair value when it is reasonably certain that the enterprise will comply with the conditions attached to the government grant and will be able to receive the grant. If the nature of the government grant is to compensate the expenses incurred by the Group, the government grant shall be recognized as current profit or loss on a systematic basis during the period in which the relevant expenses are incurred.

(26) Operating segments

The Group's information on operating segments is reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision-maker. The chief operating decision-maker is responsible for allocating resources to the operating segments and assessing their performance. The board of directors has been identified as the Group's chief operating decision-maker.

5. Major sources of uncertainty for significant accounting judgments, estimates and assumptions

During the preparation of the consolidated financial statements, the management has exercised its judgments to adopt the accounting policies to be used, and made accounting estimates and assumptions based on reasonable expectations of future events with reference to the circumstances at the balance sheet date. If there is any difference between any critical accounting estimates and assumptions made and actual results, assessment and adjustment will be conducted continuously by taking into account the historical experience and other factors. The aforementioned estimates and assumptions have the risk that may cause major adjustments to the carrying amount of assets and liabilities in the coming financial year. Please refer to the uncertainties to significant account judgments, estimates, and assumptions as stated below:

(1) Significant judgments used in the accounting policies

N/A.

(2) Critical accounting estimates and assumptions

A. Recognition of revenue

The service revenue is the revenue recognized according to the percentage of completion method, which is calculated according to the degree of service provided during the service contract period, and the relevant service costs are recognized as expenses during the period in which they are incurred. The degree of service provided is calculated by referring to the cost incurred by each service contract as of the end of the financial reporting period as a percentage of the estimated total cost of the service contract. The estimated total cost of service contracts is assessed by the management as per the nature of different cases, estimated manpower requirements, and contract duration and based on the Company's subjective judgment. The actual results may differ from the estimates, so there may be significant changes.

B. Assessment of impairment of accounts receivable

The Group must adopt historical experience to assess the possibility of future cash flow recovery. When there is objective evidence showing signs of impairment, the amount of the impairment loss is measured based on the differences between the present value of the asset's carrying amount and the estimated future cash flows at the original effective discount interest rate of the financial asset. If the actual cash flow in the future is less than estimated, significant impairment losses may occur. After considering all reasonable and corroborative information (including forward-looking information), if the credit risk has not increased significantly since the initial recognition, the loss allowance is measured based on the 12-month expected credit loss. In the case of a significant increase in the credit risk since the initial recognition, the loss allowance is measured based on the lifetime expected credit loss; for accounts receivable that do not contain a significant financial component, the loss allowance is measured based on the lifetime expected credit loss. The assessment of the allowance is based on a reasonable expectation of future events according to the situation at the balance sheet date, but the actual results may differ from the estimates, so there may be significant changes.

On June 30, 2023, the Group's accounts receivable and allowance for bad debts were $290,979 and $1,988, respectively.

Price risk

- i. The Group's equity instruments exposed to price risk are financial assets held at fair value through other comprehensive income. In order to manage the price risk of equity instrument investment, the Group has diversified its investment portfolio, and the method of the diversification is based on the limits set by the Group.
- ii. The Group mainly invests in equity instruments issued by domestic and foreign companies, and the prices of these equity instruments are affected by the uncertainty of the future values of said instruments. If the price of said equity instruments rose or fell by 1%, with all other factors remaining unchanged, the other comprehensive income would have increased or decreased by $330 and $315 for January 1 to June 30, 2023 and 2022, respectively, because of the gains or losses on the equity instrument investment at fair value through other comprehensive income.

(b) Credit risk

- i. The credit risk of the Group is the risk of financial loss suffered by the Group arising from the failure of customers or counterparties of financial instruments to fulfill contractual obligations. It mainly comes from counterparties' inability to settle accounts receivable in accordance with the payment terms, and the contractual cash flow of debt instrument investment classified as measured at amortized cost, at fair value through other comprehensive income, and at fair value through profit and loss. The Group has established credit risk management from the Group's perspective. For banks and financial institutions, only independently rated parties with good credit quality are accepted. In accordance with the internal credit policy, each operating entity within the Group must conduct management and credit risk analysis of each new customer before deciding payment and delivery terms and conditions. The internal risk control system evaluates the credit quality of customers by considering their financial positions, past experience, and other factors. The credit facilities with respect to individual risks are determined by the Board of Directors pursuant to internal and external rating. Use of the credit facilities is monitored on a regular basis.
- ii. The Group in accordance with the credit risk management procedures, deems contract payments that are overdue for more than 181 days according to the agreed payment terms or show signs that the debt cannot be repaid to be in default.
- iii. The Company adopts IFRS 9 to set the following assumptions as the basis for judging whether the credit risk of financial instruments has increased significantly since initial recognition:

When a contract payment is overdue for more than 30 days in accordance with the agreed payment terms, it is deemed that the credit risk of a financial asset has increased significantly since the initial recognition.
- iv. The indicators used by the Group to determine investment in debt instruments as credit impairment are as follows:
 - (A) The issuer has encountered major financial difficulties, or has an increased possibility of going into bankruptcy or other financial restructuring;
 - (B) The active market of financial assets disappears due to financial difficulties of the issuer;
 - (C) The issuer's delay or non-payment of interest or principal;
 - (D) Any adverse changes in national or regional economic situations that lead to breach of contract on the side of the issuer.
- v. The Group groups customers' accounts receivable according to the characteristics of trade credit risk, and adopts a simplified approach to estimate expected credit losses based on the loss rate method.

- vi. After the recourse procedures, the Group provides loss allowance and recognizes overdue receivables for the amount of the financial asset that cannot be reasonably expected to be recovered. However, the Group will continue to carry out the legal recourse procedures to preserve the creditor's rights. The Group's claims for which loss allowance has been provided with recourse activities still underway was $0 on both June 30,2023, December 31,2022 and June 30,2022.
- vii. The Group has included forward-looking considerations for the future and adjusted the loss rate established based on historical and current information for a specific period to estimate the loss allowance for notes receivable (including related parties), accounts receivable (including related parties), and long-term notes and accounts receivable (including related parties). The loss rate method as of June 30,2023, December 31,2022 and June 30,2022, is as follows:

	Not past due	Within 30 days	31-90 days	Over 91 days	Individual assessment	Total

- viii. The table of the changes in the Group's simplified loss allowance for accounts receivable is as follows:

	Accounts receivable	Accounts receivable
January 1	$ 24,038	$ 1,988
Impairment loss recognized	(22,050)	-

(c) Liquidity risk

- i. The cash flow forecast is executed by each operating entity in the Group and is compiled by the Group's finance department. The Group's finance department monitors the forecast of the Group's liquidity requirements to ensure that it has sufficient funds to meet operational needs, and maintains sufficient available credit limits at all times so that the Group does not violate the relevant borrowing limits or terms. The forecast considers the Group's debt financing plan, compliance with debt terms, compliance with the financial ratio targets of the internal balance sheet, and the requirements of external regulatory laws.
- ii. As of June 30,2023, December 31,2022 and June 30,2022, the Group's available credit limit was $509,791, $643,232 and $777,759, respectively.
- iii. The following table shows the Group's non-derivative financial liabilities and derivative financial liabilities that are settled on a net or total basis, grouped according to the relevant maturity dates. Non-derivative financial liabilities are analyzed based on the remaining period from the balance sheet date to the contract maturity date. Derivative financial liabilities are analyzed based on the remaining period from the balance sheet date to the expected maturity date. The contractual cash flows disclosed in the table below are the undiscounted amounts.

(4) Fair value information

A. The fair value levels of the financial instruments and non-financial instruments measured using the valuation technique are defined as follows:

- Level 1: Quoted (unadjusted) prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities on the measurement date. An active market refers to a market in which transactions for the asset or liability take place with sufficient frequency and volume to provide pricing information on an ongoing basis. The fair value of the stocks listed on an exchange or over-the-counter market, invested in by the Group, belongs to this level.
- Level 2: Inputs, other than quoted market prices within Level 1 that are observable, either directly or indirectly, for assets or liabilities.
- Level 3: Unobservable inputs for assets or liabilities. The Group's equity instrument investments without active markets belong to this level.

B. Financial instruments not measured at fair value

The carrying amounts of cash and cash equivalents, notes receivable, accounts receivable, other receivables, notes payable, accounts payable, and other payables are reasonable approximations of the fair values.

C. Financial and non-financial instruments measured at fair value are classified by the Group based on the nature, characteristics, risk, and the level of fair value of assets and liabilities. The relevant information is as follows:

- (a) The Group's classification is based on the nature of assets and liabilities. The relevant information is as follows:

June 30, 2023	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Total
Assets
Recurring fair value
Financial assets
(equity securities) at fair value through other comprehensive

Assets
Recurring fair value
Financial assets
(equity securities) at fair value through
other comprehensive income	$ -	$ -	$ 31,482	$ 31,482

- (b) The methods and assumptions used by the Group to measure fair value are as follows:
- i. The Group has used quoted market prices as fair value inputs (i.e., Level 1), listed below by the characteristics of instruments:

Quoted market price	TWSE/TPEX listed stocks
	Closing price
 - ii. Except for the above-mentioned financial instruments with active markets, the fair value of other financial instruments is obtained through valuation techniques or with reference to the quoted prices of counterparties. For the fair value obtained through the valuation techniques, the Group refers to the current fair value of other financial instruments with similar conditions and characteristics, the discounted cash flow method, or other valuation techniques, including calculations using models based on the market information available at the consolidated balance sheet date (e.g. the yield curve published by Taipei Exchange and the average quoted price of Reuters commercial paper benchmark).
 - iii. When evaluating non-standard and less complex financial instruments, such as debt instruments, interest rate swap contracts, foreign exchange swap contracts, and options, all without active markets, the Group adopts the valuation techniques widely used by market participants. The parameters used in the valuation models for such financial instruments are usually information observable in the market.

- iv. The output of the valuation models is an estimated value, and the valuation techniques may not reflect all the relevant factors of the financial instruments and non-financial instruments held by the Group. Therefore, the estimated value of the valuation models will be appropriately adjusted according to additional parameters, such as model risk or liquidity risk. According to the Group’s fair value valuation model management policies and relevant control procedures, the management believes that in order to properly express the fair value of financial instruments and non-financial instruments in the consolidated balance sheet, valuation adjustments are appropriate and necessary. The price information and parameters used in the evaluation process are carefully evaluated and appropriately adjusted according to current market conditions.
 - v. The Group incorporates credit risk valuation adjustments into the calculation of the fair value of financial instruments and non-financial instruments to reflect a counterparty’s credit risk and the credit quality of the Group.
- D. There were no transfers between Level 1 and Level 2 fair value in January 1 to June 30, 2023 and 2022.
- E. The table below shows the changes in Level 3 fair value in January 1 to June 30, 2023 and 2022:

	2023	2022
	Equity instruments	Equity instruments
January 1	$ 32,530	$ 29,324
Exchange rate effect	454	2,158
June 30	$ 32,984	$ 31,482

- F. In the Group’s valuation process for fair value classified as Level 3, the investment department is responsible for independent fair value verification for financial instruments, uses data from independent sources to make the valuation results close to the market level, and confirms that the source of the data is independent, reliable, consistent with other resources, and representative of the executable price, while regularly calibrating the valuation model, conducting back-testing, updating the inputs and data required by the valuation model, and making any other necessary fair value adjustments to ensure that the valuation results are reasonable.
- G. The quantitative information on the significant unobservable inputs of the valuation model used in the Level 3 fair value measurement and the sensitivity analysis of the significant unobservable input change are explained as follows:

	June 30,2023 Fair value	Valuation technique	Significant unobservable inputs	Interval (weighted average)	Relation between input and fair value
Non-derivative equity instruments: Unlisted stock	$ 32,984	Comparable public company approach	Market multiples	18.37%	The higher the multiple, the higher the fair value.
			Liquidity discount	35.00%	The higher the discount, the lower the fair value.
	December 31, 2022 Fair value	Valuation technique	Significant unobservable inputs	Interval (weighted average)	Relation between input and fair value
Non-derivative equity instruments: Unlisted stock	$ 32,530	Comparable public company approach	Market multiples	18.37%	The higher the multiple, the higher the fair value.
			Liquidity discount	35.00%	The higher the discount, the lower the fair value.
	June 30,2022 Fair value	Valuation technique	Significant unobservable inputs	Interval (weighted average)	Relation between input and fair value
Non-derivative equity instruments: Unlisted stock	$ 31,482	Comparable public company approach	Market multiples	23.45%	The higher the multiple, the higher the fair value.
			Liquidity discount	35.00%	The higher the discount, the lower the fair value.

H. The Group has selected the valuation model and valuation parameters after careful evaluation, but different valuation results may occur due to the use of different valuation models or valuation parameters. For financial assets and financial liabilities classified as Level 3, if the valuation parameters change, the effect on the current profit and loss or other comprehensive income is as follows:

	Input	Change	June 30, 2023
			Recognition in profit or loss		Recognition in other comprehensive income
